DETAILED ACTION

Remarks

1. This office action is in response to the amendment filed on 10/14/2008.
2. Claims 1 and 27 have been amended by the Applicants.
3. Claims 20-26 have been allowed in previous office action.
4. Claims 1-19 and 27 remain pending and now being allowed.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Independent claims 1 and 27 have been amended by incorporating allowable limitations of independent claim 20 and thus they are now being allowed. As Applicants point out, the closest cited prior art of Bigus et al. (US 2004/0083454), fails to teach or fairly suggest a method to perform the act of authoring rules for concurrent processing comprising steps as: composing a rule of one or more statements that facilitate decomposing the rule into a subset of instructions that are processed at least one of asynchronously or out-of-order, the rules processed to perform at least one of testing assertions, enforcing constraints using runtime information, making inferences, performing correlation, and communicating results of dynamic tests to other components, the rule associated with a rule type is defined by RDL (rules definition language) code the while a separate XML document is employed to create instances of the rule type by specifying the parameter values necessary for its instantiation; mapping at least one thread to one or more tasks for execution and employing the at least one thread to execute several tasks concurrently; providing primitives for automatically correlating asynchronous observations from a plurality of sources to eliminate the need to write multithreading code; and determining one or more models that are utilized for a given instance or implementation by employing an artificial intelligence scheme. In as such manners as recited in independent claims 1-27 and each of the dependent claims are allowable for at least the same reasons.

6. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
